

Glenorchy Council's Animal Management Program continues to provide an emergency after hours service for the following:

- Aggressive dogs that have; attacked, are secured, still in the area or can be identified to a property.
- Straying livestock on public roads.
- Collection of discarded needles and syringes in public places.

This service is for use outside normal working hours during weekdays, weekends and public holidays.
The After Hours contact number is 62166 600.

Glenorchy Council's Animal Management Program continues to provide an emergency after hours service for the following:

- Aggressive dogs that have; attacked, are secured, still in the area or can be identified to a property.
- Straying livestock on public roads.
- Collection of discarded needles and syringes in public places.

This service is for use outside normal working hours during weekdays, weekends and public holidays.
The After Hours contact number is 62166 600.

Glenorchy Council's Animal Management Program continues to provide an emergency after hours service for the following:

- Aggressive dogs that have; attacked, are secured, still in the area or can be identified to a property.
- Straying livestock on public roads.
- Collection of discarded needles and syringes in public places.

This service is for use outside normal working hours during weekdays, weekends and public holidays.
The After Hours contact number is 62166 600.